TOUR 7: OUT OF GRAZ

Because architectural heritage doesn't end at the city limits

For the curious who want to see for themselves that good architecture can be found in many places throughout the region. And for those tired of the city who need a change of scenery or want to cool off by the lake and in the neighbouring park.

81 LEGERO HEADQUARTER

Legero-United-Straße 4 | Dietrich Untertrifaller, Kieran Fraser (2019)

Everything here is of the highest quality: design studios, offices and retail spaces as light, luminous timber hybrid structures in perfect circular form – embedded in the landscape.

82 GRAZ AIRPORT/FLUGHAFEN GRAZ-THALERHOF

Feldkirchen bei Graz | Riegler Riewe (1994), Pittino & Ortner (2nd expansion 2005)

"If you're going to fly, fly from here," a critic once wrote, referring to the Flughafen Graz, which, following its first phase of expansion in 1994, received the functional elegance befitting a cosmopolitan city like Graz. Ten years later, Pittino & Ortner continued the project with a significantly curved, freely cantilevered roof.

83 AUSTRIAN SCULPTURE PARK

Premstätten, Thalerhoferstraße 85 | Dieter Kienast (1999), Peter Zinganel Architektur (2000)

Just a stone's throw from the airport, the Austrian Sculpture Park is a surprising place full of poetry, enclosed by a grass-covered embankment. Artificial mounds with sharply defined ridges, water basins of geometric precision, slopes and basins form an artificial landscape that culminates in a number of land art installations and large-scale sculptures.
