CITY. CULTURE.
DINING. HOTELS.
PROGRAMME.
Austria’s second largest city boasts more than 900 years of vibrant history: on your visit to Graz, you will discover stories bearing witness to its vibrant past, references to the present and many visionary indicators of the future. Delightfully topped off with its sun-drenched, southern-European flair.

Rising 123 metres above Graz Hauptplatz, or main square, it’s the highest natural spot in town, offering a fabulous view.

Once there was a majestic fortress on the Graz Schlossberg or castle hill – the strongest of all time according to the Guinness Book of Records. Even Napoleon was not able to take it at the beginning of the 19th century. It was only when he occupied Vienna in 1809, threatening to destroy it, that the city of Graz gave in to the pressure and yielded to demolition of almost all the fortifications. However, the people of Graz paid a ransom for the clock tower – which has become the traditional landmark of the city.
Like a huge drop, it landed right in the middle of the city in 2003, when Graz was European Capital of Culture. It has become the city’s modern emblem, shining out as much from its biomorphic shell as from the inner values of its exhibitions.

The ‘Friendly Alien’, as the Kunsthaus Graz is lovingly dubbed, is connected with the ‘Eisernes Haus’, a building steeped in tradition. The ‘Eisernes Haus’, or ‘Iron House’, was built in 1848 and was one of the first cast-iron buildings in continental Europe – a department store with large, inviting shop windows. After several alterations over many years, it was restored again to its original state when the Kunsthaus was built.
Graz lives for modern architecture. It always has. The historic city centre of Graz owes its title ‘UNESCO World Cultural Heritage Site’ in part to the colourful variety of different architectural styles under one roofscape – Gothic, Baroque and Renaissance.

So it’s hardly surprising that the ‘Island in the Mur’, by New York architect Vito Acconci, also became a reality in 2003, when Graz presented itself as Cultural Capital of Europe. 50 metres long, 20 metres wide and weighing 450 tonnes, this shell-shaped construction floats on the Mur as a link between river and city. It’s a wonderful place to drink coffee and, with water streaming past both left and right, you can appreciate a completely new perspective of the city.
LIVING CULTURE.

In this lively and sensual city, writers, musicians, actors, architects and designers alike have always found unconventional and striking ways to call attention to themselves. Since the 1970s, Graz has had the reputation of being a bustling, highly contemporary place of culture, notorious for its self-assured, provocative attitude.

Today, these seeds have borne fruit, generating a vibrant programme that is also demonstrated by many small-scale events. Cultural events such as ‘La Strada’, the international festival for street and puppet theatre, the ‘steirischer herbst’ festival focusing on avant-garde arts and the ‘styriarte’ festival, which is dedicated to classical music, yet often adopts new approaches, all enjoy an international reputation.
In 2020, the Styrian state capital will host a unique year of culture: in addition to the many events and festivals planned, Graz will be occupying itself throughout the year with the urgent questions of our times: climate change and the environment, social interaction between groups, the digital world, urban living and tomorrow’s world of work. “How we want to live” is the motto of the Graz Year of Culture 2020. This combination of question and statement reflects the multi-faceted nature of the programme, which sets new benchmarks for the city’s interaction with the living space of the future. In total, 94 projects invite residents and guests to participate, ponder and rediscover the city – in every one of Graz’s 17 districts.

Graz connoisseurs love this city for its beauty, charm and spiritedness, as well as for its warmth and joie de vivre. For culinary skills in a class of their own. And for the fact that Graz is such a delightful blend of small town and big city.

CAPITAL OF DELIGHT.

Every year, the Long Table of the Capital of Delight turns the historic city centre into a festive food mile.
Sooner or later you'll end up here, on the wooded hill right in the middle of the historic city centre, and you won't be able to get enough of the view: looking down from the Graz Schlossberg onto the brick-red roofs of the city, it's an indescribable feeling. New lovers, however, are usually less interested than most – and this has always been Graz's favourite spot for romance. It's still well worth taking a look around: the clock tower alone is a fascinating curiosity. The big and little hands are swapped around, causing some visitors to check their watches in confusion. Anecdote has it that when Napoleon wanted to blow up the clock tower, the people of Graz simply bought it back from him ... Their vision ensured that one of the finest views in Graz remains today – not to mention the wide range of restaurants to be found up here.

1. The Clock Tower is the traditional landmark of Graz. Its big and little hands are swapped around.
2. The restaurants on the Schlossberg are a favourite haunt for locals.
3. One of the most romantic spots on Schlossberg hill – the Starcke Haus restaurant.
4. The Schlossberg funicular: one of three ways to get to the top, alongside the Schlossberg glass lift and the Schlossbergstiege stairs.
Magnificent palazzi and dainty squares. Hidden alleys and romantic inner courtyards. Cobblestones and brick-red roofs. The Italian architects who lived and worked in Graz for several centuries have shaped the city to this day. Gothic, Renaissance and Baroque architecture – entire ages live here side-by-side. At every turn you’re reminded of how Graz was once a Habsburg residence.

Reminiscent of those days are the Graz Burg, the Gothic-style cathedral and the mausoleum commissioned by Emperor Ferdinand II; together, these are known as the ‘crown of the town’. On top of this, the Landhaus with its splendid Renaissance-style inner courtyard, the Landeszeughaus armoury with the largest historical collection of weapons in the world, and Eggenberg Palace with several museums and a splendid park.

1. The Mausoleum commissioned by Ferdinand II.
2. The magnificent arcaded Landhaus courtyard – a masterpiece of Italian Renaissance.
3. Eggenberg Palace – several museums and splendid gardens.
4. Herrengasse: it’s worth letting your gaze wander up from the shop windows too.
5. The gorgeous wooden shopfront of the former imperial Edegger-Tax bakery in Hofgasse.
6. The Landeszeughaus armoury of Graz with the largest historical collection of weapons in the world.

IMPERIAL HERITAGE.
1. The public square in the Joanneum Quarter features events on a regular basis. Gastronomic temptations also invite visitors to linger.

2. Make the world better by playing, create a fantasy vehicle, go on a medical journey of discovery or have adventures in Augmented Reality - all of that is possible in the Graz CoSA.

3. At the Natural History Museum, animals and plants can be observed up close, and you can learn more about their habitats and survival strategies.

4. Günter Brus ranks among the most prominent contemporary artists. His multifaceted oeuvre is collected, researched and showcased at the BRUSEUM.

5. A ‘must-see’ for all culture vultures – the Neue Galerie Graz is known for its significant collection well beyond Austria’s borders.

THE JOANNEUM QUARTER.

Centrally located, yet free from the hustle and bustle of the city: the Joanneum Quarter is a many-sided place for art and nature in the heart of Graz. The Neue Galerie Graz offers inspiring exhibitions featuring art from the 19th Century, in which artistic and social themes are informatively put on display. The in-house BRUSEUM is devoted to the works of the influential Styrian artist Günter Brus. The Natural History Museum tells of the great variety of plants and animals, the history of the earth and how life developed – many objects and interactive stations here will educate the whole family about science! Interactivity is also promised by the new CoSA – Center of Science Activities. In the science centre, enthusiasts aged 12 and up can discover technology and science through games. The Styrian State Library is a beloved gathering place for readers.

CAPITAL FOR CONNOISSEURS.

Again in 2020, Graz, the Capital of Delight, will host a series of top-class culinary events. Graz received this official accolade for the wonderful catering skills of its restaurateurs, who rely on their own regional produce paired with the courage to be creative. The Graz ‘GenussWine’ restaurateurs serve seasonal cuisine, drawing on the freshest ingredients from the Styrian ‘Regions of Delights’. Some of these even feature truffles from Graz’s Leechwald forest! GRAZ ‘KRAUTHÄUPTEL’ LETTUCE.

Graz has certainly earned the title ‘Capital of Delight’. Its mix of a sensual Mediterranean lifestyle and a mild climate in which fruit, vegetables and wine thrive, provides perfect conditions for culinary flights of fancy. There are probably not many vegetables that owe their name to a city: the ‘Grazer Krauthäuptel’, an aristocrat among lettuces, is one of them.

It really does get its name from the area where it is grown. With around 350 farming businesses, Graz is the largest community of farmers in Styria and has the highest frequency of market days: here it is not traders but rather the farmers themselves who offer their delicious produce.

1. Kaiser-Josef-Markt, the most popular farmers’ market in Graz.
2. Styrian pumpkin-seed oil, directly from the farmer – exquisitely aromatic, nutty and very healthy.
3. The ‘Grazer Krauthäuptel’, an aristocrat among lettuces, really does hail from Graz.

At the farmers’ markets in Graz and in the ‘Genussladen’ shops in town, you’ll find plenty of Styrian specialities to take home with you.
Out shopping, the whole family can get their money’s worth – whilst not forgetting a delicious ice cream.

Numerous galleries and creative shops invite you to indulge.

In past years, many interesting new shops have settled in the Mariahilf district behind the Kunsthaus Graz.

TIP: ALSTADT TRAM
Take the “Altstadt Tram” and travel through Graz city centre free of charge. Transport is free between Jakominiplatz and Hauptplatz plus an additional stop in both directions.

SHOPPING IN THE CITY OF DESIGN.

A gentle warning: Graz is a city of alluring distractions. It could easily happen that a new designer shades case squeezes itself in next to a bottle of pumpkin seed oil somewhere in the depths of your shopping bag. Yet the city is more than just a shop window for the latest fashion trends, shoes, watches, jewellery, cosmetics, household goods, textiles or antiques, but also offers many things sharing the theme of design: spectacular architectural creations like the Kunsthaus, MUMUTH, Botanical Garden, MPoG and many others. And a very lively creative scene ranging from art to commerce, from fashion to technology. Graz is a UNESCO “City of Design” – one of only 21 such cities worldwide.
1. Stroll around the Lend district and enjoy the colourful hustle and bustle.

2. With their attractive offers, many of the shops are well worth more than just a quick glance at the shop window.

3. On a Lendwalk tour, you will discover tradition and design, alongside a host of pubs and ‘in’ places to wine and dine.

TIP: LENDWALK

Kwirl, Susse Luisa, Da Loam, Tagwerk – the fanciful names alone of these shops in the creative district around Lendplatz square and Mariahilferstrasse give you a taste of the interesting projects and shopping ideas that await you there. You won’t be disappointed: numerous design shops have settled here over the last few years. This part of town on the right bank of the Mur is within just a few paces of the Kunsthaus and is more than just a top tip for those seeking exclusive ideas for gifts, designer articles or hip places to wine and dine.
GOOD EVENING IN GRAZ.

It would be such a shame not to try at least a taste of Graz nightlife. Because at night the city really comes alive – kept young, lively and optimistic by its 40,000 students at four universities and two technical colleges. Graz: the city is a stage, a scene, a backdrop, a programme of events.

Whether it’s the classics of Graz nightlife, or the new pubs that are constantly arriving on the scene in the streets around the university or on the right bank of the Mur. In the bars and pubs surrounding the Kunsthaus you’ll get great drinks served with a slice of artistic flair.

1. A warm summer evening in Graz and the back streets of the historic centre are full of life.
2. During the summer months, life is in full swing outdoors – in the evenings it isn’t only beautiful restaurant gardens but also numerous open-air events that tempt visitors.
3. Stroll from one pub or restaurant to the next – so much to choose from and all so close.
4. ‘Klanglicht’ event by Bühnen Graz – a dreamlike production in the historic city centre, playing with light, colour, music, sound and lyrics.
5. Whether it’s the classics of Graz nightlife, or the new pubs that are constantly arriving on the scene in the streets around the university or on the right bank of the Mur. In the bars and pubs surrounding the Kunsthaus you’ll get great drinks served with a slice of artistic flair.
Radkersburg. Nearby lie south and west Styria, the Regions of Delights and perfect destinations for relaxed excursions by bike. Mountain bikers, on the other hand, will love the fast trails surrounding Graz, which have become an Eldorado for the sportier side of cycling.

Graz has long been known as the most bicycle-friendly city in Austria – locals discovered early on that the quickest and greenest way to get around is on two wheels. So it’s no coincidence that Graz is home to some of the world’s technology and market leaders in biomass, solar thermal energy, water technology and waste recycling. Graz is also the highlight of the 360 km-long Mur bicycle path from Lungau to Bad Radkersburg. Nearby lie south and west Styria, the Regions of Delights and perfect destinations for relaxed excursions by bike. Mountain bikers, on the other hand, will love the fast trails surrounding Graz, which have become an Eldorado for the sportier side of cycling.

1. The Graz Stadtpark, a green island in the heart of the city, invites you to linger. The entire park has landmark status.
2. The Stadtpark covers a full 22 hectares with more than 2000 trees, and has been subject to a preservation order since 2002.
3. Discovering Graz by bike is quite obviously a lot of fun.
4. Not too fast – or you’ll miss the beautiful countryside around Graz.

THE CITY’S GREEN SIDES.
GREAT MOMENTS FOR LITTLE GUESTS.

In Graz, special attention is given to family interests. Children make the city more colourful and feature strongly in the many parks and places of interest. Despite phones, laptops & the like, “listening, looking and touching” still work best. Knowledge is disseminated in a playful way in Graz, whether at the Graz Children’s Museum, “FRida & freD”, with its many special themes, or at the museums of folk life or natural history, the armoury or Eggenberg palace. Who can claim never to have been curious about how a puzzle lock works? At the Schell Collection, this secret is laid bare. The Graz Fairytale Express isn’t only worth visiting when the weather is bad, and the same goes for the “Schlossbergutsche” or castle hill slide: at 64 metres it’s set to be the tallest underground slide in the world.

1. Offering over 40 seconds of sliding on specially made slide mats, the Schlossbergutsche slide is an exceptional experience for all ages.
2. And that’s just how modern and special ‘FRida & freD’, the children’s museum of Graz, looks from the outside.
3. A journey to the age of chivalry is so very exciting: the Landeszeughaus armoury of Graz showcases all kinds of armour, swords and cannons of old. That’s because it houses the world’s largest historical weapon collection.
4. CoSA – Center of Science Activities, a science centre where technology and science can be experienced in extraordinary ways. The science centre takes up around 1,200 m² of the first floor of the Natural History Museum.
5. Deep within Schlossberg hill there is a widely-branching tunnel system. The Graz ‘Märchenbahn’ Fairytale Express runs along some of these tunnels – what a thrilling experience!
Another famous regional product of quite a different kind are the Lipizzaner horses of Vienna’s Spanish Riding School, which are reared in Styria and return here to rest at the end of their working lives. The ancient castles of the region, on the other hand, are not the place for peace and quiet. Schloss Herberstein is home to a wildlife park and falcons circle above the towering fortress at Riegersburg; they are tame, but no less impressive for it.

Just half an hour’s drive away lie the rolling hills of the south Styrian wine-growing region, home to world-class vintage wines and rich in tradition. Enjoy both the wine and the traditional atmosphere in one of the many “Buschenschänke” to be found here, rustic taverns producing their own wines and food – such as the typical “Brettljause”, a wooden platter of assorted hams, pâtés and salami. If you find yourself in west Styria then you should definitely try a glass of “Schilcher”, the famous dry rosé produced only in this area, and much loved by connoisseurs.

1. The Lipizzaner stud farm at Piber: birthplace of the world-famous horses of the Spanish Court Riding School of Vienna.
2. The invading Turks never managed to capture the majestic fortress of Riegersburg. Nowadays it’s nearly always overrun – by hundreds of visitors.
3. Magnificent from afar and close up: the romantic inner courtyards of the region’s castles.

IN VINO VERITAS.
nature, you’re in good hands at the Open-Air Museum in Stübing, not far from Graz, where around a hundred lovingly restored historic farmhouses and plenty of (hi)stories await you. Or the Jakobuskirche church in Thal, exquisitely designed by painter Ernst Fuchs. Indeed, why not enter a monastery sometime in between? You can always pay a visit to Stift Rein, the world’s oldest Cistercian monastery, whose doors are open to the public.

1. There are many idyllic places to stop and linger in the area around Graz, for example, at the Austrian Open-Air Museum in Stübing.

3. Tracking down the Terminator: the Arnold Schwarzenegger Museum in Thal, near Graz, the town of his birth.
4. Schöckl mountain recreational area is right on Graz’s doorstep and a destination much loved both by those seeking rest and relaxation and those looking for physical activity.

AND THERE’S MORE ...

You thought you’d already seen all there was to see? Then just take a look at what’s right on Graz’s doorstep: venture, for instance, to the Schöckl, Graz’s local mountain. With a difference in altitude of approximately 1000 metres, it’s a popular destination, ideal for various types of excursions. It features a variety of hiking paths and cycling routes you can explore and combine as you wish. Those not able or not inclined to walk can treat themselves to the comfortable cable car, whilst still enjoying the extended plateau and the magnificent view. If you want to enjoy both culture and nature, you’re in good hands at the Open-Air Museum in Stübing, not far from Graz, where around a hundred lovingly restored historic farmhouses and plenty of (hi)stories await you. Or the Jakobuskirche church in Thal, exquisitely designed by painter Ernst Fuchs. Indeed, why not enter a monastery sometime in between? Joanne Leighton for WLDN – “The Graz Vigil”
For a whole year – every day at sunrise and sunset – one of Graz’s residents will keep watch over the town from the Schlossberg. The participatory project of the La Strada Graz festival and the choreographer Joanne Leighton offers the opportunity to rediscover the city and to see it from a new perspective.

Breathe Earth Collective – Climate Culture Pavilion
The internationally renowned Breathe Earth Collective will put up a physical installation as a prototype for the cooling of the city in the Year of Culture 2020. Over a period of six months, the “climate-positive” pavilion should demonstrate in Graz’s public spaces how green infrastructure in the city can contribute to cleaning of the air or cooling. Alongside aesthetic factors, the architectural, climate-technological and horticultural design should play a significant role in the programmatic demonstration of the man-made environment.

“How we want to live” is the motto of the Graz Year of Culture 2020. A total of 94 projects concerning the subjects: climate change and the environment, social interaction between groups, the digital world, urban living and tomorrow’s world of work invite residents and guests to participate, ponder and rediscover the city – in every one of Graz’s 17 districts.

MUSIKVEREIN FÜR STEIERMARK

The wide world of music in the heart of Graz: The Musikverein für Steiermark has been among Austria’s orchestras that are the most steeped in tradition since 1815, and the most important in the state of Styria. In 2020, too, there will be a high-value festival programme, subscription concerts, philharmonic evenings and events for children and young people. The music ensemble’s concerts take place in the chamber music and Stephansaal (Congress Graz), which count among the best acoustic and most beautiful historic concert halls in the world. Renowned honorary members like Franz Schubert, Ludwig van Beethoven, Alfred Brendel, Rudolf Buchbinder, Elina Garanča or Nikolaus Harnoncourt and others confirm the significance of the Musikverein für Steiermark beyond the local level.

The BÜHNEN GRAZ invite you to KLANKLICHTR 2020
30/04–02/05/2020

Art on show: every year Klanglicht, the Festival of Sound and Vision of the Bühnen Graz [Graz stages], turns the Styrian capital into a world of art, music, colours and light, and captures the imaginations of thousands of people.

On the evenings of 30 April 1 and a May 2020, the city map of Graz will be shown in a new light, in that Klanglicht 2020 will offer a new view of old mates, making places that have always been there, out of sight, visible and available to experience. The festival plays on places and empty places. Spaces and places where daily life, out, transfer spaces, learning spaces, working spaces, gardens, car parks, streets. Places that were inaccessible for a long time and places that are often used, yet not seen. Through a number of interventions by artists from all over the world, the cityscape will be seen in a new light, the space will take on a new dimension through the use of sound and light.

In 2020, Klanglicht will again turn the city into a great work of art from 30 April until 2 May, bringing art directly to the people and proving once again that art has the power to excite large numbers of people.

KLANKLICHTR – HIGHLIGHTING NEW ROUTES

For three days, the historic centre of Graz is transformed into a stage, or rather a village square, with a vibrant foray into the many sides of traditional Styrian folk culture.

For decades now the steirischer herbst festival has presented top-quality productions and projects drawn from all branches of contemporary art. Its programme focuses on the interplay between music, performance, fine art, literature and new media.

The second largest city in Austria once again becomes the focus for marathon runners: innovative, creative, friendly and urban.

As customary every year, an international jury will award the Grand Prix Graz to exciting film productions. Additionally, festival visitors can look forward to interesting photo exhibitions and slide shows, to name but a few events.

Following the great success of last year, Graz Capital of Delights invites you once again in autumn 2020 to an international truffle market in the Paradeishof, where many international exhibitors will once again bring excellent, high-quality truffle specialities from their respective regions.

Enjoy culinary delicacies that revolve around truffles from Alba, Istria and other truffle hotspots, but also with the Graz truffle at the Graz Capital of Delights partner establishments.

Hunting for treasure in the Leechwald!

In Graz itself, delicious truffles grow beneath the earth, but how do you find these outrageously expensive natural resources? It’s quite simple if you know how and have a hard-working helper with a good nose! Truffle pigs are barely used any more, but you can still see the lively truffle hounds – on a truffle walk in the Graz forest school!

Guided truffle walks in the Graz Leechwald

There, you will learn a lot about truffles and sustainable forest management. Afterwards you can savour a dish made with the truffles you have found.

Modern art meets Old Masters: in Graz, it’s usually only a few paces to go between performances, contemporary fine art or Medieval painting. Connoisseurs and art lovers will enjoy the wide variety of museums, exhibitions and collections – from the unique Graz Armoury, the renowned Universalmuseum Joanneum, Kunsthalle Graz, the well-known children’s museum FRida&freD and the greenhouses of the Botanical Gardens, through to collections assembled lovingly over many decades. The public and private galleries of Graz provide a lively platform for contemporary art.
